

JOURNAL OF DEAF STUDIES AND DEAF EDUCATION

Volume 6, Number 1, Winter 2001

Theory / Review Article

Application of Demand-Control Theory to Sign Language Interpreting: Implications for Stress and Interpreter Training

Robyn K. Dean and Robert Q. Pollard Jr

Empirical Articles

Structures Underpinning Pretend Play and Word Production in Young Hearing Children and Children with Hearing Loss

P. Margaret Brown, Field W. Rickards, and Anna Bortoli

Effects of Articulation Training on the Production of Trained and Untrained Phonemes in Conversations and Formal Tests

Louise E. Paatsch, Péter J. Blamey, and Julia Z. Sarant

Television Literacy : Comprehension of Program Content Using Closed Captions for the Deaf

Margaret S. Jelinek Lewis and Dorothy W. Jackson

Self-Concept of Deaf Secondary School Students in Different Educational Settings

Susan van Gorp

Endnote

“Does God Have a Cochlear Implant?”

Michael A. Harvey